

Will your home purchase be influenced by school?

It should be.

Public school district and proximity to desirable private schools are major drivers of home values in metropolitan Atlanta and surrounding suburbs.

Need help making a wise decision on your next home purchase?

Then call me, Christy Harris.

I go beyond just comparing test scores and school demographics. I educate my clients on school and neighborhood history, trends, and other aspects not easily obtained by merely searching the Internet.

My 37 years in Atlanta and intelligent "due diligence" approach help my clients make smart decisions on this most important financial and personal transaction.
